Thomas E. Galligan, jr., a contractor and house mover, of 331 East Thirtyseventh street, was next called. that was burned in September. He worked four days for the Fire Department and then the owner. He used carris and horses and they were driven across the sidewalk into the cellar. Q. Did you make the acquaintance of one James Burn: while engaged in this work? A. Yes, sir, Q. Where did you meet him? A. On the aids-walk. Q. Did he come to you fret? A. Yes, sir, Q. What did he say to you?

Q. What did he say to you?

Col. James objected that this was not relevant, because it did not concern the present indictment, but was overruled. Galligan went on to say that Burns told him the Captain wanted to see him. "The Captain came out to see me, and when I told him Burns had sent me he said. 'So you think you can come down in this precinct and do what you like."

"I told him I had a permit, but he got very angry, and I got mad, too. He said it did not make any difference, and he was not going to stand it any longer." he was not going to stand it any longer."
Galligan went on to say that when he came out of the station he met Burns again on the sidewalk, and he asked him what the "old man" had said to after you gave him the cavelope? A. Not the remember. I went back to the building, there was no interference after that. Continuing his story Mr. Seagrist as that in May, 1889, when he was work tearing down the buildings Beaver and William streets for Farmers Loan and Trust Company, had another call from Ward M Burns.

Q. Did you see the Captain? A. Yes. I went down to the station and found the Captain. I had taken the precaution to put a $100 hill: an ane-velope for the two jobs and I simply handed it to Captain McLaughlin, who took it. Q. What did he say? A We didn't have much to say. I can't remember that he said anything. to say. I can't remember that he said anything.

After that Mr. Seagrist said that there was no interference from Burns in either job, and they lasted for nearly a month. He saw Burns in the street frequently, but nothing more was said about obstructions in the street, and the work went or as it was originally commenced.

During this recital Inspector Mc-Laughlin sat drinking in the words of the witness and chewing gum very hard, while Col. James was popping up every few seconds with an objection, which was invariably overruled by Justice Barrett.

Not Clear on This Payment. Coming to the job which he undertook in the Fail of 1891, the tearing down of the building at Exchange place am William street. Mr. Sengrist told how he again became an object of interes to Wardman Burns and Capt. McLaugh lin. It was out of his payment of money in connection with this job that the present indictment against the Inspectors.

Burns came to see him only two days after he got the contract, on Nov. 18, 1892. He stopped the work on the building, and the men were all idle when Mr. Seagrist got downtown the next day.

to Burna, but I gave it to one or the other. This answer seemed to greatly surprise Mf. Fox, for the witness's memory as to the other payments was very clear. He had made an entry of the payment in his cash book, and that fixed the date as Nov. 21, 1891.

After this date the work continued for over two weeks at William street and Exchange place, the witness said, without interruption or interference.

He also denied that he had told Schless.

He also denied that he had told Schlesinger that he was sorry for McLaughlin, as he was a good fellow and had always treated him well, or that he had requested Schlesinger to tell McLaughlin that his testimony would not hurt him because his memory was not good now. "It's all false; every word of it," said Mr. Seagrist.

"Didn't you tell Schlesinger that you expected that you might be prosecuted in connection with this?" asked Col. James.

Never Tried to Bribe.

Some wrangling among the counsel followed. Seigrist interrupted, saying: weel. Seigrist interrupted, saying:

There was an outburst of laughter at this, even McLaughlin grinning. At the close of the cross-examination of Seagrist the people rested their case. The court adjourned until to-morrow morning.

PARK POLICE ON PARADE.

Central Park was in her best Spring uit this morning when the gray-coated guardians turned out in annual parade Mayor and Park Commissioners.

Thousands of people had gathered un-reviewing stand on the west side of the Mall.

"Company front" was presented, and the Mayor's messenger unfurled the Mayor's flag over him.

After a salute from the police by tipping the helmet with white-gloved hands, the Mayor descended from the stand and, arm-in-arm with Capt. Collins, and followed by the Park Commissioners, Corporation Counsel and Register, passed down the front and up between the open lines in inspection to musical selections from "Carmen."

They then returned to the grand stand and reviewed the men as they went through the evolutions of the police manual.

First Inning.

Thousands of people had gathered under the trees in the great public playground to witness this annual show, and what they saw was well worth the visit.

The force appeared as a battalion at the Arsenal, near the Sixty-fifth street and Fifth avenue gate, and, preceded by Rogers's Seventh Regiment Band of twenty pieces, proceeded to the Mail, where they marched down that broad and leaf-canopled stretch from north to south.

A little before 10 o'clock carriages drove up to the south end of the Mail. They contained Mayor Strong, Corporation Counsel Scott, Register Levy, President David King, jr., and Commissioners G. G. Havens, R. B. Roosevelt, A. It Julliard, of the Park Board.

They passed up the Mail and took seats on the stand erected in front of the reviewing stand on the west side of the Mayor's messenger unfurled the circuit on Shugart's slashing with a base. Second Inning.

Luby pushed one along the third-base line for two bags. Cunningham tapped a bounder directly into Davis's mitt, and dieerge fouched Luby, who had started to run to third on the hit. Welsh laced out a single over short, on which Cunningham took second. McGain tapped up a little fly for Jack Poyle, and O'Brien spoiled the Louisville's chances by going out at first. No runs.

Stafford and Schriever both slugged out long files to center, which Shugart rullled down. German made it one-two-three on his slow grounder to Preston. No runs.

Third inning.

Shugart filled the air full of holes and retired. Glasscock tapped an easy one to "Murph" and was thrown out. Wille then gave Clarke a life by fambling his slashing grounder. The advantage was only momentary. Clarke being retired in his effort to steal second. No runs.

Clarke returned the little Yalesian's compliment by fumbling the latter's grounder and allowing Wille to reach first. Burkeville's Mayor gave Centre Fielder Shugart another "put out." "Murph" then stole second and third. Mitchael Tiernan was again presented with a base. Davis cracked a single to right, and Murphy trotted across the public of the cross the rubber, and Doyle followed Davis's example, and Tiernan secored. A wild throw allowed Davis to cross the rubber, and Doyle reached third. Van Haitren prehed up a fly which McGiann gathered. Stafford struck out. Three runs.

Fourth Inning.

Tiernan made a pretty running catch of Preston's long liner. Davis gobbied up Luby's foul. Cunningham filed out to Burke. No runs.

Zahner now catching. Schriver banged out a single past third. He stole second and reached third on Zahner's high throw to catch him. German fanned out. Murphy waitzed to first on balls. Burke placed a single to left, and Schriver scored, "Murph" reaching sec-

Hundreds of persons were disappointed to learn this morning that the steeple-chase, hurdle and flat races which were to be conducted by the National Steeplechase Association at Morris Park to-day will not take place. A postponement ha een made until Saturday.

The very attractive steeplechase and hurdle stakes which had been arranged y the Association, and which promise he finest jumping races ever seen in the finest jumping races ever seen in this part of the country, have all been declared off and entrance fees will be returned to owners. Instead, a programme of purse races will be arranged for Saturday.

The National Steeplechase Association is deserving of the sympathy of turimen and racegoers. In spite of the preludice existing among racegoers against this branch of racing, they managed to interest turimen to such an extent that a splendid class of entries was received, and many well-known flat performers were trained over the sticks. Bociety became intensely interested in the meeting also, and had the racing gone on to-day the paddock and grand stand lawn would have hardly held the coach and taily-ho parties that would have been a financial success. The Association was at considerable expenselaying out the steeplechase course, and besides this particular branch of sport does not find favor with the regulars.

At a meeting this morning of the Virginia Jockey Club the conclusion was reached that the present plan of racing on alternate days with the Island track would be the only practicable way to avoid a class. Accordingly this plan will be continued indefinitely.

Nothing was done regarding new officials, save that Wood Martin will be permanent Presiding Judge and W. Fitzpatrick will be continued as starter as long as his work is satisfactory.

J. N. Kirk, J. M. Hill and Jockey Nacey left this afternoon to appear before the Jockey Club.
